

I urge the commission to give the public more time for debate on this issue, including congressional investigation into the reasons for the proposed changes and the lack of public involvement in the decision-making process. I feel that the American public is best served by the greatest diversity in media ownership that we can achieve.